

Who is Richard Carmona?

- ① Physician
- ② Former deputy sheriff
- ③ Surgeon General
- ④ GED graduate, Texas
- All of the above

Every person with a GED has a story—600,000 new stories a year. Richard Carmona never finished high school before he joined the army. Then he passed the GED Tests. He went on to prove himself in college and medical school while working as a deputy sheriff. In 2002, President Bush appointed him Surgeon General of the United States.

Mature. Motivated. And ready to prove it.

The people who pass the GED Tests.
